GOSHMELO TRADING

Goshmelo trade is the transportation of goods between two countries, outside the country of operation. We are able to handle complex cross trade shipments both in Sea and Air as well.

Globalisation of markets has promoted a growing trend towards integrated product supply between suppliers and their customers in international commercial operations.

This means that exporting companies have increased their acquisition of complementary components and articles in a variety of markets — in countries other than those of their production centres — which must all arrive at the customer's location at the same time in a coordinated manner.

These products must therefore be managed using triangular or cross trade operations, without undergoing any further production processes and by necessity travelling over different routes. They must be delivered to the final customer along with the main product being exported, as if only a single shipment was involved.
